This Monograph introduces a series of historical studies of the descendants of York County, Virginia, families, which the compiler intends to issue with as much dispatch as possible.

The ten years of study which have been spent in preparation of this material have been years of amazing discoveries of the prominent part the County of York in Virginia played in the development of the American nation, politically, religiously and culturally. Particularly has the unique place of the Poquoson planters in colonial history been impressive. Probably no section of equal area has included so many significant characters in American history as this area in the cradle days of the American nation.

This series of monographs is issued with several purposes in mind. First, there is the real desire to make a contribution to historically accurate Virginia genealogy. Every effort has been made to verify and check every bit of information herein contained. No doubt mistakes have crept in, and certainly there are lines which have not been followed. Perhaps someday a supplement correcting the mistakes and containing these other lines can be issued.

In the second place, it is sincerely hoped that the deeds and accomplishments of a worthy ancestry will inspire emulation in their descendants. In this, as in every ancient family, descendants are to be found in every area and walk of life. Some live in beautiful homes surrounded by an atmosphere of culture. Others have found the struggle harder and have found it more difficult to hold aloft the torch of a worthy heritage. Some few have been defeated. This Monograph leaves my study with a prayer that for those of the first group it will prove strengthening; that for those of the second group it will prove challenging; and that it may engender new hope in the few of our kin who have known defeat.

The Roman numerals in the text indicate the number of the generation in America. The Arabic numeral simply places the individual in his family group. For example: IX. (6) means that the individual is of the ninth American generation and that he is sixth in his particular family. The abbreviations are those universally used and will be easily understood. Abbreviations for magazines are those used by Dr. Swem.

Acknowledgment is due the many friends, members of the family, librarians, archivist and others who have made this Monograph possible. Especial mention should be given my efficient helpers, Miss Una Akers, Miss Helen Sawyers and Mr. Robert Goldstone.

Without the assistance of The Index of my inspiring friend, Dr. Earl Gregg Swem, and without the splendid Charles Parish Register prepared by Dr. Landon C. Bell, this work would be much less complete. Much help has been received from The Genealogy of the Holloway Families in America by Dr. Olin E. Holloway.

A Brief Sketch
Colonial York County

The earliest settlements in what is now York County, Virginia, were made along the York and Poquoson Rivers sometime around 1625-1632. The generally accepted date is 1630-1632, but there is some evidence that settlers penetrated the forests of the narrow peninsula and found the high banks of the York River at an earlier date. They very rapidly established a settlement not only on the York River, then known as the Pamunkey, but on the Back and Poquoson Rivers. In those early days the Back River was known as the Poquoson River and what is now the Poquoson was known as the New Poquoson River. By 1634 there were sufficient residents in the area for it to be included among the eight original shires under the name of Charles River. It was so called until 1643 when the name was changed to York.

The original County was much larger than the present County. Among the counties which have come partly or wholly from York are Gloucester, 1651; Lancaster, 1651; New Kent, 1654; King William, 1702; Hanover, 1721; and Louisa 1742.

The early settlers of York County were, for the most part, of good English stock. Many of them were connected with the Colonial government at Williamsburg. They were in constant contact with new arrivals from England, both permanent settlers and government officials, and were able to maintain a high cultural standard. The late Dr. Lyon G. Tyler says of them: "It is perfectly evident from the environment" that most of these settlers belonged to "respectable families in England". "They were as a rule men of good education, and it is certain that no better set of immigrants could have come to a new country for settlement".

These new settlers faced grave problems, not the least of which were the Chiskiack Indians, who roamed the county, and the mosquitoes. They were able to conquer the Indians, but to this day their descendants still wage incessant war against the mosquitoes. There were also wolves, for which rewards were paid, and beavers in large numbers.

The early settlements in the County were known as Chiskiack, now Yorktown; York, about three miles below Chiskiack; and Poquoson, which still retains its ancient name. Strangely enough, the Court House has been at one time or another in each of these settlements. The Court seems originally to have been held at York, then in Poquoson for a number of years following 1680. In 1698, the Court was moved to Yorktown, where it has ever since remained.

Poquoson was the home of the major portion of the Holloway family, though some lived in other parts of the county. The early settlers in this section retained its descriptive Indian name, meaning "marsh" or "lowland". The area immediately across the Back River in Elizabeth City County was also known as Poquoson, usually called Old Poquoson to distinguish it from Poquoson, York County, frequently called New Poquoson. Among the earliest settlers in Poquoson, York County, were the families Holloway, Freeman, Calthorpe, Owen, Parsons, Russell, Wades, Hinde, Bennett, Betty, Stoakes, Wray, Symons, Privett, Lucas, Curtis, Hayney, Powell, Brice, Thresher, Chisman, Mitchell, Yonge, Watkins, Presson, Hansford, Matthews, Van Doverage (the Forson family ancestor), Hayward (Howard), and many others of the representative families of early Virginia history. York County, and Poquoson in particular, because it was the most popular and prosperous section of the county, was a veritable sieve through which passed thousands of immigrants to the new world. Frequently these families would linger a generation, sometimes two or more, in York before moving on. Intermarriages with the established families were frequent, and it is probable that the present inhabitants of Poquoson represent as great, if not a greater, cross-section of early Virginia descent than any other people of the state.

It is not possible to research the history of an early county without realizing the important place of the early Parish and its ministers in the life of the county. York was early divided into four parishes: (1) Chiskiack (afterwards York) Parish, from Back or Chisman's Creek to Yorktown Creek; (2) Hampton Parish, from Yorktown Creek to Queen's Creek; (3) Marston Parish, which was combined with Middletown Parish to form Bruton Parish in 1674; and, (4) Poquoson Parish, sometimes New Poquoson, much the largest of the parishes, extending from Back River to Back (Chisman's) Creek. York Records for 1693 quote an order of the House of Burgesses, dated Dec. 11, 1692, which ordered the changing of the name of the Parish to Charles Parish. It also changed the name of the New Poquoson River to Charles River. Neither name seems to have ever been largely used locally, though the Parish name was thereafter Charles Parish in all official records.

York and Hampton Parishes were ordered combined by the Council, Feb. 5, 1706, "upon reading the petition of the Parishes of York and Hampton setting forth that the said parishes (were) so small and poor as not to be able to maintain a minister". Thereafter it was known as York-Hampton Parish.

The late Dr. Tyler often stated that York County was the most cultured spot in America in the Seventeenth and early Eighteenth Centuries. There is abundant evidence that this was true. Robert Leightenhouse had a private school in York Parish before 1697, when Sir Francis Nicholson gave $1\frac{1}{2}$ acres in Yorktown for a public school. This school had been discontinued, however, before 1724 when Rev. Francis Fontaine reported no public schools in York Parish. The Whaley School was established in Bruton Parish in 1706. (6W(1)78).

It was Poquoson (or Charles) Parish where probably the most widespread public education in early America was made possible for the whole population. Not only did this Parish share equally with Elizabeth City County in the educational devises of the will of Benjamin Sims, but it also had Jane Culley's School which seems to have been a semi-public school under the direction of the Parish, as well as several other private schools. (See 6W(1)76-78). It is quite fitting that the new consolidated York County High School has been placed within the bounds of this old Parish where early American education was pioneered.

One of the most interesting events in York County history was the famous Charles (Poquoson) Parish Case which was frequently before the Council and General Court from Mar. 18, 1707 to Sept. 12, 1709. (See Executive Journal, Council of Colonial Virginia, Vol. III. The case centered around the election of a vestry. However, it seems that a more basic question was involved, viz., the question of the power and authority of the Colonial officials to keep a minister in the office of rector against the will of the vestry, and to tax the inhabitants for his support, whether they wished his services or not. This case, which the vestry finally lost, is of great significance in the light of future events which led to the separation of church and state and the liberation of the American people.

Quakers were in York County by 1698. Thomas Story and Roger Gill, Quaker preachers, began their Virginia ministry in York County at the home of Edward Thomas, Dec. 11, 1698. Meetings were also held at Scimmino in Upper York at the home of John Bates. As a result a flourishing society, holding monthly meetings, was formed in York County. Many of the Quakers of York seem to have moved to Prince George and neighboring counties, and it seems entirely probable that the Quaker Holloways of those counties, of whom several were prominent Quaker preachers, were from the York County family. (Week's Southern Quakers and Slavery).

"New Lights", the name applied to Presbyterians, Methodists and Baptists, found difficulty in obtaining an entering wedge in the county where the Church of England was established in fact as well as by law. It was not until after the Revolutionary War that they were able to make much progress. Once given a footing, however, the Methodists and Baptists soon became the dominant religious groups in the County.

From the settling of York, ca. 1630, to the Battle of Yorktown in 1781, no single section in the New World played a more important part in the founding of the American nation than York County, Virginia.

The English Ancestry

The ancient family of Holloway in England seems to have been seated in County Middlesex at, or shortly after, the time of the Norman Conquest. As the name indicates the family is of Saxon origin. The name means "the hollow or holy way". Its original spelling seems to have been Holleweye. From this have developed many variations, most of which are still used in various parts of the world by some branch of the family. Among the spellings found in the course of this research are Holeweye, Hollway, Holway, Halloway, Hallaway, Holoway, Hollowes, Halowes and, most frequently used, Holloway.

From a close study of English wills of the family, the family armory and such other articles and sources as are available to researchers in this country, the following conclusions have been reached concerning the English Ancestry. Further search may disprove portions of these conclusions, but in the main they will be found to be correct.

I. From an early Holloway, possibly John Holeweye, of County Middlesex descended:

II. (1) the Holloways of Kensington and Parish Islington, County Middlesex, who have given their name to the London suburb, Holloway; and the major portion of the London family.

(2) the Holloways of County Lincoln, the first of whom was probably John Holloway (b. ca. 1750). The son of this first John, was John Hardwicke Holloway, b. ca. 1790, a solicitor and clerk of the peace in County Lincoln. His grandson was James Holloway (b. ca. 1830) who married Marietta Calthorpe, only child of John Calthorpe of Stanhoe Hall. Their son, still living, is Henry Calthorpe Holloway, born 1856. It is indeed interesting to note how descendants of the Holloway and Calthorpe families should have become united both in England and Virginia.

(3) the Holloways of Southwest England, all of whom bear similar arms, evidently migrated from County Middlesex in the Thirteenth Century. They are to be found scattered throughout counties Warwick, Gloucester, Wiltshire, Oxford, Hampshire, and Somerset. The progenitors of these families seem to have been John de Holeweye found in Wiltshire and Warwick in the latter part of the Thirteenth Century. Possibly a son of John of Wiltshire was:

III. (1) Simon Holeweye (found also as Halleway) who died in Bristol, Gloucester County, in 1389. His wife was Margery. She married 2nd, Nicholas Hastynges who d. 1398. She d. 1413. His will was probated June 18, 1389.

IV. (1) John Halleway, son of Simon, b. ca. 1375, was survived only by a daughter (V. (1)) Margery.

(2) Joan Halleway, who married Thomas Halleway, evidently a kinsman. He d. 1452. Issue:

- V. (1) Nicholas Holloway
- (2) Thomas Holloway
- (3) John Holloway
- (4) William Holloway

V. (3)

John Holloway, b. ca. 1400. It was evidently this John Holloway who moved to County Oxford from whom John Holloway, probably of the ninth generation from John of Middlesex, was descended.

VI. (1) John Holloway, b. ca. 1555, who lived in County Oxford and appears to have had issue:

VII. (1) John Holloway, b. ca. 1580, who it is supposed was Dr. John Holloway of Northampton County.

(2) Charles Holloway, b. ca. 1583, who later moved to London. It appears that he was grandfather of John Holloway, the Virginia lawyer. It may also be from him that Benjamin Holloway, b. ca. 1775, of Lee Place, Oxford, was descended. A son of Benjamin was Sir Thomas Holloway, K.C.B., who was Colonel-Commandant of the Plymouth Division Royal Marines, Lieutenant-General in the Royal Marine Artillery and A.D.C. to the Queen.

(3) George Holloway, b. ca. 1590, settled in York County, Virginia. Whether he married in England or after he immigrated to America is not known. Perhaps he was one of those bachelor Americans who found his wife among the cargo of brides. Perhaps he was among the settlers who avenged themselves upon the Chiskiack Indians in the Massacre near what is now Yorktown in 1622, thus clearing the way for himself and his fellow pioneers to make a new settlement and begin a new county. He had issue (perhaps among others):

VIII. (1) James Holloway, b. ca. 1635. (The son of the first American ancestor of the Holloways of York.)

(2) George Holloway, Jr., b. ca. 1638. (The second son of the first American Holloway ancestor.)

(4) Peter Holloway, b. ca. 1592, settled in Charles City County, Virginia.

The compiler cheerfully admits that, while there is abundant evidence that George Holloway is of the Oxford family, verification of the above grouping is far from adequate. It is simply what seems most likely based on the meager information at hand. However, these few records extant, and an intimate knowledge of the Poquoson Settlement--its characteristic groupings of families from neighboring English communities, constitute good evidence that the Holloways of York County were one of the large number of Oxford families, including the Freemans and Roberts, who settled in York County in the cradle days of the nation. Further evidence of this fact is found in a careful study of the life of John Holloway, Gent., who was certainly kin, possibly a great-nephew, of George Holloway, of Poquoson, York County, Virginia.

Armorial Bearings Claimed by Holloways of York County
(Adapted from Burke's General Amory)

Modern Heraldry had its origin in the time of the holy wars and in those "extraordinary times of reality and romance, of barbarism and civilization" when feudalism was still the social order. Of the trappings of Feudalism, only Heraldry survives.

In continental Europe, Heraldry has been esteemed as a privilege of the nobility only. In England, however, a coat-of-arms has always been "the indispensable appendage of a gentleman" and an object of pride and display to the English. It has been "the broad seal under which time testifies to the antiquity of our race, and the purity of our blood."

In a real sense Heraldry is co-existent with man--for always men have found need of a means by which to identify themselves. "Every man of the children of Israel shall pitch by his own standard, with the ensign of their father's house". (Numbers, Chap. 2). Advancing with the train of civilization, the rude devices of early times have assumed systematic form, which we know as Heraldry.

Originally all arms were granted by the King, usually for meritorious civic or military service. This duty becoming burdensome, Richard III constituted the College of Arms whose privilege was to grant and inspect the arms borne by the gentry and nobility. About once every thirty years an inspection was held to cause the gentry "to produce and show by what authority and right they challenged and claimed the use of arms".

Then, as now, only those to whom grants had been made, or those who were able to show descent from an ancestor entitled to armorial ensigns, were allowed possession of these "incontrovertible evidences of honor and blood."

One of the principal show-places for Heraldry was the tournament. It was customary for those who participated to be attired in complete warlike habit and equipage, with arms emblazoned upon their shields, surcoats and caparisons. The Esquire preceded the Knight, bearing in his right hand his Master's tilting spear, and in his left the timbre or helmet, surmounted by the crest, adorned with pieces of silk--mistresses' favors, wreath or torses, tintured of arms.

The Arms were "hereditary marks of honour, regularly composed of certain tinctures and figures granted by the Sovereigns for distinguishing, differencing and illustrating Persons, Families and Communities." Those who are entitled to them should cherish them as tokens of a glorious past and emblems of a worthy present and a great future. As this Monograph is being issued, it seems possible that to the American descendants must fall the task of preserving the worthy customs and traditions of English culture. What more needed today than a re-emphasis upon the family unit! What more conducive to high family life than the traditions of a noble past and aspirations for a noble future!

It should be recognized by all Americans that hereditary Coats-of-Arms should only be possessed by those who are entitled by inheritance to possess them. It is as reprehensible to purloin this family possession as it is to purloin any other. Possession can only be shown by genealogical research which proves descent from arms-bearing ancestors. Psuedo-genealogists have capitalized on the increasing Heraldry consciousness of the American family to spread coats-of-arms pell-mell over the land. It is absurd, but not uncommon, to find a coat-of-arms displayed by those who have no record of ancestry to establish their claim. Indeed, the compiler has found many instances of arms displayed where the family could not prove an ancestry of more than three or four generations.

The County Middlesex Holloways from whom the York County family, and evidently most, if not all, of the English families of Holloway, are descended, bore arms at a very early time. As they sifted throughout England, various minor changes were effected, but the arms continued substantially the same. The line of descent of the York family from these earliest Holloways is certainly through Oxford. Therefore the proper arms for the York family is that historically borne by the Oxford branch of the family from whom they are descended:

"Gu. a fesse, betw. three crescents ar. a Canton ermine. Crest--a goat's head ar. gorged with a collar gu. charged with three crescents of the first, lined of the second."

--Burke

The historic motto of the English Holloway family is "A Deo Lux Nostra" -- "From God is our Light."

Excursus

It may be well here to list briefly the other arms to which some of the related families herein included are entitled.

WADE:-- The Wade family of Hampstead, County Middlesex from which was descended Armiger Wade of Poquoson, York County, bore arms:

"Az. a sultire betw. four escallops or. Crest: a rhinoceros ar."

--Burke

FREEMAN:-- The Freeman family of County Oxford, from whom was descended Henry Freeman, Sr., the silk merchant, to York in 1625, and his son or nephew Henry Freeman, Jr., to York ca. 1625, bore arms:

"Gu. three lozenges or. Crest: a demi lion ramp. gu. charged with a lozenge or."

--Burke

BACON:-- The Bacon family of Hissett, County Norfolk, from whom was descended Col. Christopher Calthorpe, of Brome, County Norfolk, to York in 1622, bore arms:

"ar. on a fesse engr. gu. betw. three escutcheons of the second, as many mullets ar. pierced sa. Crest: a talbot's head sa. erased gu. holding in the mouth a deer's leg or.

--Burke

ROOKWOOD:-- The Rookwood family of County Suffolk, from whom was descended Col. Christopher Calthorpe, of Brome, County Norfolk, to York in 1622, bore arms:

"ar. sex chessrooks sa. three two and one."

--Burke

GARNISH:-- The Garnish family of Kenton, County Suffolk, from whom was descended Col. Christopher Calthorpe, of Brome, County Norfolk, to York in 1622, bore arms:

"ar. on a chev. az. betw. three escallops su. a crescent or. Crest: an arm extended and erased, ar. holding a falchion, blade of the first, hilt or."

--Burke

PYGOTT:-- The Pygott family of Stirston, from whom was descended Col. Christopher Calthorpe, of Brome, County Norfolk, to York in 1622, bore arms:

"ar. two bends engr. gu."

--Burke

ASTLEY:-- The Astley family of Melton Constable, called by Burke "the ancient house of Astley of Melton Constable", from whom was descended Col. Christopher Calthorpe, of Brome, County Norfolk, to York in 1622, bore arms:

"az. a cinquefail ermine within a bordure engr. or. Crest: out of a ducal coronet or, a plume of feathers in a case ar."

--Burke

CALTHORPE:-- The Calthorpe family of Brome, County Norfolk, from whom was descended Col. Christopher Calthorpe, of Brome, Norfolk County, to York in 1622, bore arms:

"Chequy or and az. a fesse ermine. Crest: a boar's head, couped at the neck azure, bristled and tusked or. betw. two woodmen with clubs over their shoulders, all ppr."

--Burke

It should be understood that these are not the only arms due those herein listed. They are only such arms as I have been able to verify by Burke's General Armory, and in each case, by some collaborating source.

The Emigrants

Among the many emigrants from Oxford to Virginia was George Holloway who was in York County, Virginia, around 1635. (q.v., page 9) He may have been the Holloway who is traditionally said to have been in the second landing at Jamestown. As has been suggested he may have been brother to Peter Holloway who settled in Charles City County ca. 1635 and of Dr. John Holloway of Northampton County. The names Peter and John are constantly recurring among George Holloway's descendants.

Dr. John Holloway is shown by court records to have been in Northumberland County in 1655, and Oliver Holloway to Lower Norfolk County in 1648. Nothing is known of their possible relationship to the York County family, nor of their descendants.

Other Holloway immigrants to America include:

Samuel Holloway, who settled in Taunton, Mass., married March 26, 1666, Jane Brayman, by whom he had issue:--Hannah, Samuel, Nathaniel and John. It is thought this John was born about the year 1668.

Savage, in his "Dictionary of the First Settlers of New England", makes mention of a John Holloway of Hartford, who came to New England in the ship "Elizabeth" from London 1635, age 21 years. He seems to have settled in New Haven and died there October 18, 1684, without issue.

Baldwin, in his "Maryland Wills" records the Will of a John Holloway of Calvert County dated Nov. 2nd, 1697, which mentions wife Mathew, sons John and James and daughters Eliza, Riggell and Mary.

Volume 9 American Ancestry gives an account of William Holloway of Taunton, Mass., who married Elizabeth Holyday Nov. 17, 1702, and says he was the son of Malachi.

Another Holloway immigrant, and by far the most outstanding member of the York County family, was John Holloway, Gent., probably a great-nephew, of George Holloway of Poquoson. He is noticed at length in the following section.

John Holloway, Gentleman
(ca. 1666--d. Dec. 14, 1734)

John Holloway, one of the outstanding governmental officials in Colonial America was born in London, probably the grandson of Charles Holloway of Oxford County, which would make him a great nephew of George Holloway of York County.

Unfortunately, the only account which gives much information about the youth of John Holloway was written by his political foe and legal rival, Sir John Randolph. From this we obtain information that he studied law and was admitted to practice in Marshalsea Court, the Court which decided cases involving the domestic arrangements of the palace and of the King's holdings. He also was a soldier with King William's Army in Ireland.

Besides his practice of law, Holloway engaged in a business project which was a failure. The failure left him in a state of financial ruin and to recoup his fortune he sailed for America, where he was to become not only a wealthy man but a famous statesman.

He is supposed to have gone first into Maryland, and then to have settled in York County. It is entirely probable that his inducement to settle in York was the presence there of near kinsmen. He seems to have settled in the upper part of York County in Bruton Parish. His ability was recognized and he soon became one of the Gentlemen Justices of the County.

He established a large legal practice in the Courts of York, James City and neighboring Counties. Sir John Randolph said of him in his Breviate Book (See I VHR, 119-123): "He had practiced in this Court upwards of thirty years, with great Reputation for Diligence and Learning; and was so much in the good Opinion of the Court, that I have upon many occasions known him prevail for his Clients against Reasons and Arguments much stronger and better than his. His Opinions were by most People looked upon as decisive, and were very frequently acquiesced in by both Parties, those against whom he pronounced being discouraged from disputing against so Authority. He practiced with much Artifice and Cunning, being thoroughly skilled in Attorneyship; But when his Causes came to a hearing, he reasoned little, was tedious in reading long Reports of some Cases, and little Abridgements of others, out of which he would collect short Aphorisms, and obiter sayings of Judges, and would rely upon them, without regarding the main Point in Question, and arbitrarily affirm or deny a matter of Law, which had often too much weight against the Reason and Difference of things. By this method he gained many Causes which always gave him great Joy, but was impatient if he lost one as if it tended to a Diminution of his Credit. He was blamable for one singular Practice, in Drawing notes for special verdicts; he would state naked Circumstances of Facts only, and leave to the Court to collect the Matter of Fact out of them; so that upon such Verdicts we have had many tedious Debates about what the fact was. Whereas if that had been found positively as it should be, there would have been no Need of a Special Verdict. But against this I could never prevail. His greatest Excellence was his Diligence and Industry."

When it is remembered that this is the testimony of his greatest rival, the caustic statements become more easily understood. Randolph went on to say "His Reputation was such, that he was universally courted, and most People thot themselves obliged to him, if he would engage on their Side upon any Terms; and he really thought so himself. This gave him great Opportunities of exacting excessive Fees, which I have heard he always did, where the Value of the thing in Question would allow it."

In 1710, King and Queen County elected him a member of the House of Burgesses, it not being required that a member live in the County from which elected. He served until 1714. In 1720 York County elected him to membership in the House, an office he was destined to hold until ill health forced his resignation some four months before his death. He represented Williamsburg from 1723-4. In 1727 he was elected from both York and Williamsburg, but could represent only one, which he chose to be York.

On November 2, 1720, he was elected Speaker of the House of Burgesses, which post he held for successive sessions, with little or no opposition, until his resignation. What would not the Holloways of York County give for his Speaker's gown and chair, which were authorized to be bought by a special act in 1722?

He was also active in many other civic and church activities. He was a Judge of Vice-Admiralty under Governor Spottswood. He resigned in 1718 because of opposition to his sitting in the case of one of the many pirates for whom he had served as counsel. In 1722 he was named the first Mayor of Williamsburg. He was much interested in the development of the town as is shown by numerous records of the occasions when he was one of those appointed to supervise the Construction of Public Buildings.

He was a Vestryman of Bruton Parish and gave one of the wings of the Church. His pew is still pointed out.

He was Treasurer of Virginia from 1723-1734. His salary in this office was 4% of all money received.

In his later years he developed a serious disability which seems not only to have affected his body, but also his mind. This became more intense about ten months before his death, which forced the House of Burgesses to accept his resignation because "through the infirmity and weakness of his body and memory (he) is become incapable of executing the said office". Naturally, in his condition he had been unable to keep his books properly, or to see to the collection of moneys due the state. It was found that his accounts were short 850 pounds, which he immediately made good. The following month, suggesting that his disorder was due to the fatigue of settling the tobacco inspectors accounts, the Council voted a gift of 100 pounds to be made him.

He was one of the large land owners of early Virginia, owning land in nearly every County. Among his holdings, besides his plantation in York, were his Williamsburg property in James City County, 3000 acres in Nansemond (granted, 1726), and 1240 acres in King William County.

Sometime after 1720, he married Elizabeth Catesby Cocke, Widow of Dr. William Cocke and sister of Mark Catesby, the naturalist. She is buried in Old St. Paul's Churchyard, Norfolk, Va.

John Holloway, who had been the outstanding statesman of Virginia in the first quarter of the Eighteenth Century despite the active opposition of some of the highest English officials, died December 14, 1734, in the sixty-ninth year of his age. Despite the many who have claimed descent from him, he died without issue.

Descendants of James Holloway

II. (1)

James Holloway, son of George Holloway, the immigrant, b. ca. 1635, presumably after his father's arrival in York County, Virginia, married, first, Ann; and, secondly, Elizabeth. Unfortunately we do not know the family name of either wife, and it is likely we never shall. Further research into the many records of York County may reveal some of the many activities that must have been crowded into the rather brief life of James. He lived in eventful times and in the very center of early American life. Certainly he knew personally all of those romantic characters among the early settlers of Virginia whose adventures have thrilled succeeding generations of school children. Certainly he could not have reared a family without himself experiencing many of the dangers and hardships of pioneer life. Men didn't live long in those days. He was only about forty years old when a court entry was made, June, 1675, excusing him, as was the custom, from paying further taxes because "he is past labors". He died July 19, 1677.

III.

By his first wife, Ann, he had at least two sons: (1) David, b. May 2, 1664; and (2) James, Jr., b. June 1, 1667. There is record of but one child by his second wife, Elizabeth, a son (3) Thomas, b. July 26, 1673. The family, being good parishioners of the Church of England in Charles River Parish (which included most of the County), had Thomas christened when ten days old, Aug. 5, 1673. Of the first two sons considerable is known. Of Thomas we know nothing. Perhaps he was one of that large number of York natives who answered the call of "Westward Ho!"

III. (1)

David Holloway married Elizabeth Matthews, daughter of John Matthews. It is interesting to note how very many Elizabeth Holloways, either by birth or marriage, there have been in York. David Holloway was named administrator of John Matthews' estate, June 24, 1702. The inventory of his estate is listed in York Will Book 18, page 58, 1733, he having died May 27, 1732. His wife survived him by four years, dying July 9, 1736. Issue:

IV. (1) Ann Holloway, b. June 26, 1697, d. Feb. 20, 1716

(2) John Holloway, b. Dec. 7, 1701. (q.v.)

(3) Matthews (Parish Record spells it "Matthas") Holloway, a daughter, b. June, 1699, d. Mar. 7, 1700

(4) David Holloway, Jr., b. Jan. 27, 1703, d. 1789. (q.v.)

(5) Elizabeth Holloway, b. Oct. 1, 1704

(6) Priscilla Holloway, b. Oct. 30, 1705

(7) George Holloway, b. Feb. 20, 1709. (q.v.)

(8) James Holloway, b. Jan. 18, 1711, d. 1788. (q.v.)

The Caroline County Holloways

(in collaboration with Mrs. R. E. Holloway and Mrs. L. H. Bagby)

IV. (2) -- p. 17

John Holloway, b. Dec. 7, 1701, son of David Holloway and Elizabeth Matthews, left York County as a young man and settled in Caroline County, Virginia. He may have lived for a while in Spottsylvania County, or he may have married there. At any rate we find him qualifying as guardian to his son William Holloway in Spottsylvania Records dated Oct. 7, 1746. William may have inherited property in Spottsylvania, for that county's records show that he and Mary, his wife, deeded property on August 5, 1755. In the deed he was described as "of Caroline County". His will, written in Essex County, was probated in Caroline County in 1770. His son William is not mentioned in his will. Nor is Nathaniel. Perhaps William died prior to 1770. They were evidently by a first wife, and may already have been provided for at an earlier date. Issue:

- V. (1) William Holloway, b. ca. 1730; m. Mary _____
 (2) Nathaniel Holloway (frequently signed Nathan., and often spelled Nathan). (q.v.)
 (3) George Holloway. (q.v.)
 (4) John Holloway (Some have thought this John to be the John listed as VI. (1).)
 (5) Elizabeth Holloway
 (6) Susanna ("Sukey") Holloway

V. (2)

Nathaniel Holloway, evidently but not positively, a son of John Holloway, is shown to have been a soldier in a regiment raised for defense of the state in 1762 (Caroline O. B. 1780). He is the only Holloway in Personal Tax Records for 1783. Among issue:

- VI. (1) Nathaniel Holloway, Jr., b. ca. 1780, lived in Hanover County, Virginia. He married, first, _____ Patterson, and second, Judy Rice. Not all of the following children have been verified and no attempt is made to assign them to either wife.

Issue:

- VII. (1) James P. Holloway, b. ca. 1815 (q.v.)
 (2) Joseph Samuel Holloway, b. ca. 1820. (q.v.)
 (3) Lucern Holloway
 (4) John Holloway
 (5) Jacob Holloway
 (6) Lucinda Holloway m. _____ Haynie
 (7) Sarah Holloway
 (8) Jane Holloway
 (9) Susan Holloway

V. (3)

George Holloway, son of John Holloway, married Elizabeth Cammack, said to have been his first cousin, evidently on the maternal side. Though John Holloway, first listed among issue given below, was not mentioned in Henry of Amherst's will, there is a paper prepared by Mrs. Virginia Farish, daughter of Robert Green Holloway, Sr., which states that George Holloway and Elizabeth Cammack were her great-grandparents. McIlhenny in his "Some Virginia Families" gives George and Betsy Holloway of Caroline County as parents of Thomas Slaughter Holloway and George Holloway, Jr. Henry Holloway, of Amherst County, names these two and others as brothers and sisters in his will. The records do not indicate any other George and Elizabeth Holloway in the County. Issue:

- VI. (1) John Holloway, b. ca. 1760, d. 1841? (q.v.)
 (2) Thomas Slaughter Holloway, b. May 27, 1765, d. June 28, 1824. (q.v.)
 (3) George Holloway, Jr. (q.v.)
 (4) Susanna Holloway, d. 1805. (q. v.)
 (5) Henry Holloway, d. 1810. His will, probated in Augusta County, June 18, 1810, describes him as of Amherst County.
 (6) Sarah Holloway m. F. Slaughter. Evidently, though not positively, had issue:
 VII. (1) Charles H. Slaughter, and (2) Henry Slaughter
 (7) Jancy Holloway
 (8) Charles Holloway, a soldier from Augusta County in the War of Revolution
 (9) Robert Holloway (q.v.)
 (10) Possibly, _____ Holloway who married _____ Bell (not verified)

VI. (1)

John Holloway, son of George Holloway and Elizabeth Cammack, married (unverified; according to Mrs. R. E. Holloway, Portsmouth, Va.) Barbara Collawn. Issue:

- VII. (1) Robert Green Holloway, b. 1781, d. 1849 (q.v.)
 (2) John William Holloway (q.v.)
 (3) Charles Holloway, d. unm.
 (4) Addison L. Holloway (q.v.)
 (5) Catherine Holloway m., June 24, 1813, Miles Clift
 (6) Eliza Holloway m. John Bullock (q.v.)
 (7) Lavinia Holloway m. Hay Saunders of Little Washington, Rappahannock County, Va. (q.v.)

VI. (2)

Thomas Slaughter Holloway, son of George and Elizabeth Cammack, married, first, September 27, 1796, Elizabeth Moore, b. Sept 27, 1779, daughter of Reuben and Catherine Moore; married, secondly, Mar. 28, 1819, Ann Crump, daughter of Benjamin and Eliza Crump. Issue by Elizabeth Moore:

- VII. (1) Susannah Moore Holloway, b. Mar. 1, 1798; m. Benjamin Harrison. No issue.
 (2) George Holloway, b. Jan. 17, 1801, d. Aug. 4, 1826, in Huntsville, Alabama
 (3) Catherine Price Holloway, b. Feb. 26, 1803; m. John G. Wright; d. leaving two children whose names have not been ascertained
 (4) Betsy Ann Holloway, b. Sept 22, 1805; m. 1st, Major William Henley and had four children; m. 2nd, Wilkins Watson and had three children
 (5) Sarah Robert Holloway, b. Nov. 1, 1808, d. July 9, 1875 (q.v.)
 (6) Mary Ann Henry Holloway, b. Sept. 1, 1811, d. inf. Oct. 11, 1811
 (7) Susan Crump Holloway, b. July 20, 1820, m. Mar. 29, 1838, C. W. Lane of Guyandotte, Va. Had thirteen children of whom VIII. (8) was Susan A. Lane who married Archibald Kinney, her half first-cousin. (q.v.)

VI. (3)

George Holloway, Jr., son of George Holloway and Elizabeth Cammack, lived in Augusta County. He had issue, among others not ascertained:

- VII. (1) Eliza Catherine Slaughter Penn Thornton Holloway,
b. Mar. 11, 1801, d. Nov. 16, 1859. (q.v.)

VI. (4)

Susannah Holloway, daughter of George Holloway and Elizabeth Cammack, married Thomas Royston, III, who died in 1814. Among issue:

- VII. (1) Joanna Royston, b. 1793, d. 1872; m. Robert Green Holloway, Sr. (q.v.)
(2) Richard Royston
(3) John Royston
(4) Elizabeth Royston, b. 1796, d. 1831; m. Capt. Elijah Amiss, wid. of Sarah Wyatt Royston
(5) Sarah Wyatt Royston m. Capt. Elijah Wyatt Royston
(6) Esther Royston, d. unm.
(7) Rhoda Royston m. Alpheus Haynie
(8) Thomas Royston, IV.

This line has not been explored further.

(b) Descendants of John William Holloway, Sr.

VII. (2) -- p. 20

John William Holloway, son of John Holloway and Barbara Collawn, was born ca. 1795. Dr. Olin Holloway in Genealogy of the Holloway Families in America states that his father was Charles T. Holloway, "said to have been born in England". The present writer has found no evidence to prove this a correct statement. Family records and traditions concur in denying it. From Dr. Holloway's text certain errors are obvious. "John W. Holloway, b. 1812" would hardly have been parent to children born 1825-6-7-9.

He married first Ann Collawn, daughter of William Collawn who consented to the marriage bond, Dec. 10, 1821 (see 23V202). They were married Dec. 14, 1821 (see 39V40). By her he had one child:

VIII. (1) Ann Holloway m. Major S. J. White. No issue.

John William Holloway, Sr., married, secondly Elizabeth Brumbley Martin, daughter of William Martin and Nancy Brumbley, and a sister of Dr. Thomas Martin. She died in 1866 and her will, dated Sept. 17, 1866, was probated Dec. 10, 1866, Caroline W. B. 1866. Issue:

VIII. (2) Angelina Catherine Holloway, b. May 1, 1825, a school-teacher in Tennessee and Edgefield Co., S. C. She died in Edgefield, S. C., and is buried there. She is still held in honored memory by her many students.

(3) Martha Thornton Holloway, b. Aug. 17, 1826, d. unm.

(4) Mary Eliza Holloway, b. Dec. 17, 1827, d. unm.

(5) Fannie Brumbley Holloway, b. Jan. 8, 1829; m. Richard Garrett. It was at their home that John Wilkes Booth found refuge after the assassination of Abraham Lincoln.

It was in their barn he was captured. Mrs. Garrett's sister, Lucinda Keeling Boulware Holloway, was tutoring in the home at the time and ministered to the wounded man. Charges that the Garretts were accomplices of Booth seem unfounded. Miss Holloway afterwards wrote an account of the stay and capture of Booth which is now on file in the Confederate Museum of Richmond, Va. Issue:

- IX. (1) Rev. Richard Baynum Garrett, D. D., dcd., m. Annie Laurie Howell. He was educated at Carson College and Louisville Baptist Seminary. He was for years pastor of Court Street Baptist Church, Portsmouth, Va. Issue:

- VIII. (6) Lucinda Keeling Boulware Holloway, b. July 30, 1831. Among other bequests, her will left money to the Baptist Orphanage at Salem, Va. Her account of Booth's capture is contained in the appendix to this Monograph.
- (7) John William Holloway, Jr., b. June 12, 1833, d. Sept. 12, 1910; m. Bettie Susan Raines, b. Feb. 14, 1844, dau. of Isaac Raines and Catherine Ann Jeter. He was employed in Georgia at the outbreak of the War Between the States and enlisted, Mar. 18, 1861, at Bainbridge, Georgia, as a pvt., Co. G, First Regiment, Georgia Infantry, C.S.A. Re-enlisted, Mar. 19, 1862 as pvt., Co. K, Second Regiment, Georgia Cavalry. He was captured, Dec. 25, 1862 and imprisoned at Camp Douglas, Illinois. He was exchanged and again captured, July 21, 1864, near Atlanta. This time he was imprisoned at Camp Chase, Ohio. He was released June 11, 1865 upon taking the oath of allegiance to the United States. Issue:

IX. (1) Willie Birdie Holloway, b. July 3, 1875, d. 1938; m., Apr. 23, 1902, Jesse H. Winn, b. Aug. 4, 1864, d. 1937, son of Dr. Jesse Winn and Catherine Anne Cammack. Issue:

The Surry County Holloways

IV. (4) -- p. 17

1204368

David Holloway, Jr. was evidently twice married, first to Elizabeth and then to Frances. This compiler believes that it was he who established the family in Surry County, despite the fact that Dr. Olin Holloway in his splendid book, Genealogy of the Holloway Families, which deals nearly exclusively with Quaker and Northern branches of the family, ascribes that distinction to David, son of George, III, and Hannah Holloway. One reason is that this second David, b. Aug. 18, 1690, would have been rather old to have raised so large a family after 1732. The second and most conclusive reason that it was the former rather than the latter is the fact that David, son of George, III, and Hannah, died when eight years old, July 13, 1698. The Charles River Parish Register also includes three children not shown by Dr. Holloway. This David of Surry was evidently a man of considerable wealth. He could sell Anselm Bailey 250 acres on the south side of the McCain Blackwater Swamp (Surry D. B. for 1761) and still will two plantations and other property to his sons. He lived to a ripe old age, seeing some of his children die and others move far away, which probably accounts for the fact that only three sons, Lazarus, Job and Jesse, are mentioned in his will, dated July 17, 1789 (Surry W. B. 12, p. 244). Issue:

- V. (1) Sarah Holloway, b. Oct. 24, 1732. She was the only daughter by the first marriage.
- (2) David Holloway, III, b. July 28, 1737
- (3) John Holloway, b. Apr. 6, 1741. Probably one of the several Johns who served in the American Revolution
- (4) Elizabeth Holloway, b. Apr. 6, 1741
- (5) Lazarus Holloway, b. ca. 1743; m. Sarah Brown, Aug. 18, 1785. He evidently had a son, Thomas, who was administrator of his father's estate (Surry W. B. 17, p. 315). Inventory mentions accounts with David and Joel Holloway. Probable issue of Thomas include: (1) Esther Holloway and (2) Penelope Holloway. These two daughters are mentioned in the Will of Mills Lawrence of Isle of Wight County (contained in Croyier's Williamsburg Wills) dated Sept. 15, 1814, and probated Mar. 4, 1816. From this it appears that the wife of Thomas was "Temply", who was probably a Lawrence.
- This appears to be the Thomas Holloway who was a pensioner in 1835, residing in Sussex Co. He had served in the War of the Revolution in the Virginia Militia.
- (6) Anna Holloway, b. Oct. 3, 1744
- (7) Isaac Holloway, b. June 10, 1747
- (8) Job Holloway, b. May 17, 1749
- (9) Jesse Holloway, b. July 20, 1750, d. 1811

The first four children are recorded in the Charles River Parish Register. Lazarus is mentioned in his father's will. The last four are recorded in the Albemarle Parish Register of Surry and Sussex Counties. Present-day descendants are known for only one of the nine children.

V. (9) -- p. 35

Jesse Holloway married Ann. He had eight children to whom he left his estate. Sons, Silas and Job, were executors of his will probated Nov. 26, 1811. Issue:

- VI. (1) Fanny Holloway m. _____ Land
 (2) Silas Holloway, b. 1779, d. 1860 (q.v.)
 (3) John Holloway, private, Capt. Sampson Wilson's Company, 71st Regiment, Virginia Infantry, War of 1812
 (4) Susanna Holloway m. _____ Kea; sometimes spelled Keys
 (5) Elijah Holloway, private, Capt. Sampson Wilson's Company, 71st Regiment, Virginia Infantry, War of 1812
 (6) James Holloway, private, Capt. Sampson Wilson's Company, 71st Regiment, Virginia Infantry, War of 1812
 (7) Polly Holloway
 (8) Jesse Holloway, Jr. m. Sarah Warren

Of these only the descendants of Silas Holloway have been definitely ascertained.

VI. (2)

Silas Holloway, b. 1779, d. Jan. 22, 1860, son of Jesse and Ann Holloway; married Nancy Anne Thompson, b. Feb. 8, 1784, d. June 7, 1883. His will was probated in 1860 (Surry W. B., 1860). He was a prominent Baptist Layman. His obituary in the Baptist Church paper says of him "as a husband, father and master, he acted his part wisely and well". Issue:

- VII. (1) Robert T. Holloway m. Susan Smith. He moved to Newport News, Virginia.
 (2) Fannie Holloway, d. 1856
 (3) John Thomas Holloway, b. 1825, d. 1908 (q.v.)
 (4) Martha Holloway, d. unm.
 (5) Winifred Holloway, d. unm.
 (6) Susan Holloway, d. unm., Jan. 1899
 (7) Wilmouth Newsom Holloway, b. Oct. 8, 1818 (q.v.)
 (8) William H. Holloway
 (9) Sarah Holloway
 (10) Herbert Nicholas Holloway. He left Surry County and moved to Ohio. In his father's will he is mentioned as not having been heard from, but is left a tract of land known as "the bellyache tract", providing that in case he failed to return the land should be sold and the proceeds divided among the other children.
 (11) Joseph Silas Holloway. He left Surry County and moved to Gongales, Texas.
 (12) James Patrick Holloway (q.v.)

Nothing definite is known of the descendants, if any, of Robert T., Fannie, William H., Herbert Nicholas, Sarah or Joseph Holloway.

The Southside Holloways

IV. (7) -- p. 17

George Holloway, son of David Holloway and Elizabeth Matthews, himself married an Elizabeth. He was a large planter and it was evidently to him that John Hatley Norton, formerly of York County, then of London, referred in a letter to his son, Hatley Norton, still in York, May 10, 1767, saying that on a recent shipment many hogsheads of tobacco had turned out rotten, including those of Mr. George Holloway. The Nortons were tobacco merchants.

York County soil was said to be very well suited to the cultivation of sweet scented tobacco, which was a major crop of the early times.

It may have been this Elizabeth Holloway who, as a widow, married Pinkethman Musgrove, a bearer of two distinguished York names, on July 15, 1778.

Issue of George and Elizabeth Holloway:

- V. (1) William Holloway, b. Dec. 24, 1734/5, d. 1784. (q.v., below)
 (2) Bennett Holloway, b. Oct. 22, 1738. He is probably the Bennett Holloway who is listed in Bell's Old Free State as a Colonial soldier of Lunenburg County. His issue, if any, has not been ascertained.

V. (1) -- above

William Holloway, with his brother Bennett, and possibly his father, moved from York County to Brunswick. Records of William and Bennett are found in the several counties surrounding Brunswick. His will, proved Nov. 20, 1784, showed him to have been a man of considerable wealth. In addition to the sons mentioned in his will he may have had a son William, who appears in the county records in the early nineteenth century. Issue as given by his will:

- VI. (1) Daniel Holloway, b. ca. 1760, d. 1823
 (2) Jessie Holloway
 (3) Asa Holloway
 (4) Caleb Holloway

The following is a probable, but not entirely verified, line of descent from Daniel Holloway.

(a) Descendants of Daniel Holloway

VI. (1) -- above

Daniel Holloway, whose will is recorded in Brunswick W. B. 9, p. 318, had inherited a 389-acre plantation from his father and had lived all his life in Brunswick County. Among his issue:

The Poguoson Holloways
(in collaboration with Mrs. J. Clifton Carmines)

IV. (8) --- p. 17

James Holloway, twin to Rebekah, the youngest son of David and Elizabeth Holloway, married, first, Mary, who died following childbirth, June 5, 1736. Her baby, (1) Mary, b. May 1736, d. July 1736, survived her for but one month. He married, secondly, Elizabeth whose maiden name was probably Owen.

Too old to fight in the Revolutionary War, James Holloway furnished sons and civilian aid to the cause, as is evident from his appearance before the court of York in 1783 where he claimed a loss of 28 pounds 10 shillings in the invasion of York County by the British in 1781. He and his son Thomas remained members of the Parish Church after the War and were among those leading citizens of the county who signed a petition to the General Assembly asking that no changes be made in the original incorporation of the Protestant Episcopal Church as of 1784. (3W(2)113-114). His death occurred in 1788 and his will is probated in York W. B. 23, pp. 155 and 162. By this will he leaves his plantation to his wife and after her death to Thomas. He left the residue to be divided between Martha Parsons, Anne Holloway and Peter Holloway.

Issue by Elizabeth (Owen?):

- V. (2) Peter Holloway, b. Oct. 20, 1737, d. 1809 (q.v.)
- (3) Martha Holloway, b. Jan. 10, 1739 (q.v.)
- (4) Elizabeth Holloway, b. Mar. 25, 1742, d. July 26, 1749
- (5) James Holloway, Jr., b. Feb. 26, 1744. Possibly the Lieutenant James Holloway of the 12th Va. Regiment, who, from some accounts, married Martha Anne Owen, a good York County name, and moved to Jessamine County, Kentucky, after the War, where he died 1829. (See D.A.R. Lineage Book, Vol 24, p. 51.) The fact that he is not included in his father's will would indicate that he had either died or moved away. Since the Parish records do not record his death, it is presumed he had moved so far away as to be out of touch with the family.
- (6) Mary Holloway, b. Jan. 30, 1747, d. Oct. 4, 1749
- (7) Thomas Holloway, b. Sept. 23, 1750, d. 1791 (q.v.)
- (8) Robert Owen Holloway, b. June 2, 1753, d. Oct. 10, 1757
- (9) William Holloway, b. Jan. 6, 1757. Possibly one of the Williams in the Revolutionary War.
- (10) Anne, b. Jan. 9, 1760
- (11) Sarah, b. May 5, 1764

Of the seven surviving children, definite information is known about only the two sons, Peter and Thomas, and daughter, Martha.

It would be interesting indeed to know into which of the early York families these other daughters married, who their descendants were, what new lands they pioneered. Perhaps some day a supplement can be issued including these lines. Or better still--some interested member of the family might finance the publication of a full history and biography of the family. What better monument could some more wealthy member of the family leave to posterity than such a volume!

V. (2) -- p. 45

Peter Holloway, traditionally the first person to be buried in Western Cemetery, Messick, Virginia, married Elizabeth who was probably a Russell. She may have been a daughter of John Russell, Sr. It has been told children's children that the large sycamore in the cemetery grew from the whipping stick used by the driver of the wagon which bore the coffin to the cemetery, it having been placed in the ground to mark the head of the grave. Upon his death in 1809, he willed his plantation to his daughters, Mary and Martha, so long as they should remain single. Upon their marriage it was to become his grandson's, Peter Holloway Parsons. (York W.B. 23, p. 747, Inventory, p. 767). Issue of Peter Holloway and Elizabeth (Russell?):

- VI. (1) Robert Holloway, b. Oct. 13, 1765; d. ca. 1828 (q.v.)
 (2) James Russell Holloway, b. June 1, 1768
 (3) Peter Holloway, Jr., b. Dec. 13, 1769. Enlisted as a private, Shield's Company, 2d Battalion, 115th Regiment, Virginia Militia, War of 1812. (35V4ff)
 (4) Elizabeth Holloway, b. Aug. 16, 1771; m. Armiger Parsons, York planter, June 3, 1794; a descendant of Armiger Wade, the Burgess. He was a member of Shield's Company 2nd Battalion, 115th Regiment, Virginia Militia, War of 1812. (37V4ff). He was killed in the Battle of Hampton, June 25, 1813. On Dec. 17, 1828, Mrs. Parsons petitioned the General Assembly for a pension (York Petition 9216), enclosing affidavits of Charles Hopkins and William Hix. Issue:
- VII. (1) Peter Holloway Parsons. His descendants have not been ascertained.
 (5) Anne (Nancy) Holloway, b. Oct. 3, 1773
 (6) Martha Holloway, b. Dec. 10, 1776; m. Edward Hickman, Aug. 23, 1816, with Thomas Parsons on Bond
 (7) William Holloway, b. Nov. 12, 1779
 (8) Mary Holloway, mentioned in father's will, but not in Parish Register, b. ca. 1781; m. Thomas Cox, with Thomas Hobday on Bond. Thomas Cox was a member of Shield's Company, 2nd Battalion, 115th Regiment, Virginia Militia, War of 1812. (37V4ff) A copy of the Marriage Bond follows:

Know All Men by these presents that we Thomas Cox and Thomas Hobday and are held and firmly bound unto John Tyler Esquire Governor or Chief Magistrate of the Commonwealth of Virginia in the just and full sum of one hundred and fifty dollars to be paid to the said Governor or his successors to which payment well and truly to be made we bind our Selves jointly and severally our joint and several heirs Executors and Administrators firmly by these presents. Sealed with our Seals this 20th day of June, 1809.

The Condition of the above obligation is such that whereas there is a Marriage intended to be had and Solemnized between the above bound Thomas Cox and Mary Holloway, Spinster of the Parish of York Hampton and County of York now if there be no Lawful cause to obstruct the said marriage then the above obligation to be void otherwise to remain in full force and virtue.

V. (3) -- p. 45

Martha Holloway, daughter of James Holloway and Elizabeth (Owen?), married James Parsons, grandson of James Parsons and Dorothy Wade. Dorothy Wade was the daughter of Armiger Wade, Jr., and Elizabeth, and the grand-daughter of Armiger Wade, Sr., a member of the House of Burgesses in 1657, who came to York prior to 1644. He is said to have been descended from Sir Armigall Wade of Bellsizes, near Hampstead, England, who was father of the famous Sir William Wade of the Court of James I, Ambassador to Spain under Queen Elizabeth in 1584. A present day representative of the family is Sir Armagil Wade, a Government Official of Kenya Colony. Armiger Wade, Sr., left a will probated Apr. 24, 1677. Armiger Wade, Jr., a vestryman of Charles Parish, left a will probated Aug. 13, 1708. Issue:

- VI. (1) Mary Parsons, b. Sept. 30, 1760
 (2) Elizabeth Parsons, b. Apr. 7, 1765 (q.v.)
 (3) Dorothy Parsons, b. Dec. 3, 1767
 (4) James Parsons, b. Feb. 17, 1770
 (5) John Parsons, b. Feb. 5, 1775
 (6) William Parsons, b. Dec. 4, 1777
 (7) Anne Parsons, b. Mar. 27, 1780

V. (7) -- p. 45

Thomas Holloway, son of James and Elizabeth (Owen?) Holloway, heir to his father's plantation, married Amey Morris, Sept. 18, 1786, probably the daughter of John Morris. He was a signer of the Protestant Episcopal Church petition along with his father. He may be one of the Thomas Holloways of Virginia listed as soldiers in the Revolutionary War. He died in 1791. His will left his plantation to his wife, with the proviso that if she remarried, the children should inherit the estate. The will does not name the children. Among issue:

- VI. (1) Elizabeth Holloway, b. Aug. 17, 1787. She died shortly after her marriage to George Cox, May 17, 1819. He later married Martha Freeman, daughter of Henry Freeman and Elizabeth Presson.
 (2) John Hinde Holloway (q.v.)

VI. (1) -- p. 46

Robert Holloway, son of Peter and Elizabeth (Russell?) Holloway, married Diana, whose maiden name is not known. An account of the sale of his estate is found in York W. B. 12, page 104, dated Nov. 27, 1835. Issue:

- VII. (1) Peter Vance Holloway, b. Apr. 23, 1786; enlisted War of 1812 in Capt. John Goodall's Company, Apr. 19, 1813. (See 37V4ff)
 (2) Robert Holloway, Jr., b. ca. 1790 (q.v.)
 (3) Diana Holloway (q.v.)
 (4) Ann Holloway (q.v.)
 (5) Elijah James Holloway (q.v.)
 (6) John Holloway (q.v.)
 (7) Sarah Holloway (q.v.)

VI. (2) -- Above

Elizabeth Parsons, daughter of Martha Holloway and James Parsons, married James Russell Holloway, son of Peter Holloway and Elizabeth (Russell?). He was a member of Shield's Company, 2nd Battalion, 115th Regiment, Virginia Militia, War of 1812, wounded in Battle of Hampton, June 25, 1813. Issue:

- VII. (1) Louis Holloway. He left York County as a young unmarried man and was not heard of afterwards.
 (2) (James?) Holloway (q.v.)
 (3) Wilton Holloway (q.v.)
 (4) Willis Holloway (q.v.)
 (5) Harriett Holloway (q.v.)

VI. (5) -- p. 46

Nancy Holloway, daughter of Peter Holloway and Elizabeth (Russell?) Holloway, married Thomas Davis, bond dated Mar. 12, 1800. He was a member of Capt. Samuel Shield's Company, 2nd Battalion, 115th Regiment, Virginia Militia, War of 1812.

The Davis Family of York County, descendants of which are to be found throughout the state, particularly in York, Gloucester, Stafford, and Spottsylvania Counties, and in Woodford County, Kentucky (12V325-6), is traditionally said to be descended from John and Thomas Davis, presumably brothers, who came to Virginia in 1623. Capt. Thomas Davis, later Major; settled in Warwick County. John settled in York County, near the James City County border, and had three sons from whom the York and kindred lines are descended: (1) John, (2) Thomas and (3) William. Issue:

- VII. (1) Thomas J. Davis (q.v.)
 (2) Charles Davis (q.v.)

VI. (2) -- p. 47

Rev. John Hinde Holloway, son of Thomas Holloway and Amey Morris, was an early Methodist Episcopal minister of York County. Existing records evidence the prominent part his father played in the Protestant Episcopal Church in the County after the disestablishment of the Church of England. In all probability John Hinde Holloway grew up in the Protestant Episcopal Church and was converted to Methodism by one of the early circuit rider evangelists. Aged residents of York County testify to the high esteem in which he was held, and the prevalence of his name among succeeding generations is further proof of the fact.

He was born ca. 1790 and may have been named for his cousin, Hinde Holloway (q.v.). In 1820 he married Mary Anne Mancy, said to have come from Elizabeth City County.

He died ca. 1845. His last words were from Charles Wesley's great hymn "Father, I Stretch My Hands to Thee".

Issue of Rev. John Hinde Holloway and Mary Anne Mancy:

- VII. (1) Alpheus Holloway, m. Frances Dixon. No issue.
 (2) Levin Holloway, d. unm. (Tradition says that his name was "Eleven", a customary name given the eleventh son in a family. The compiler has not verified this.)
 (3) Thomas Holloway m. Elizabeth Landrum. Issue:
 VIII. (1) Benjamin Holloway, d. unm.
 (4) Mary Eliza Holloway (q.v.)
 (5) Sarah Holloway (q.v.)
 (6) John Holloway, d. unm.
 (7) Hester Holloway (q.v.)

There probably were other children.

(a) Descendants of Robert Holloway, Jr.

VII. (2) -- p. 47

Robert Holloway, Jr., married Mrs. Elizabeth Linton Martin, widow of John Martin. She was the daughter of Elijah Linton, veteran of both the Revolution and the War of 1812, who was descended from a good Eastern Shore family and settled in York County around 1817 with a large family of daughters. Through the marriages of his daughters, nearly every York family has become related to all others. (See the Monograph on the Linton Family now being prepared by the compiler).

Robert Holloway was a private in Shield's Company, 2nd Battalion, 115th Regiment, Virginia Militia, War of 1812. He participated in the Battle of Hampton. (37V4ff) Issue:

- VIII. (1) Julancy Holloway (q.v.)
 (2) Elias Holloway, b. 1831, d. 1904 (q.v.)
 (3) Elijah Holloway, d. unm. He was a private in Capt. James T. Watkins' Company, 115th Virginia Militia, C.S.A. He became ill and died in Camp.
 (4) Robert Holloway, d. unm.
 (5) Mary Elizabeth Holloway, b. Jan. 16, 1841, d. Sept. 20, 1893 (q.v.)

Robert Holloway married, secondly, Harriett Ryder, nee Holloway, (q.v.), widow of John Ryder. Issue:

- VIII. (6) John Early Holloway (q.v.)
 (7) Ann Holloway (q.v.)

VIII. (1) -- above

Julancy Holloway, daughter of Robert Holloway and Elizabeth Linton, married David Martin, Feb. 16, 1849. The compiler has in his possession receipts from tutors which indicate that David Martin was either a younger brother, or a nephew, of Walter Martin, with whom he lived. Walter Martin of "Watt's Landing" was one of the largest slave holders in York County. A research into the genealogy of this family would undoubtedly reveal many interesting family connections. What became of Nicholas Martiau, Jr., son of the Captain Nicholas Martiau who owned what is now Yorktown? Did he die? From extant records it is seen that the French "Martiau" soon became anglicized to "Martian" and even "Marten" and "Martin". Are these York Martins possibly overlooked lineal descendants of the same pioneer ancestor from whom George Washington descended? Issue:

- IX. (1) Ellen Martin m. John Holloway, son of Willis and Polly Holloway (q.v.). Mrs. Holloway is still living in Messick, Va., one of the oldest residents of the community. Issue:

- X. (2) Thomas Freeman m. Olive Lawson. The Lawson family of York moved from the Eastern Shore, probably from one of the Islands of the Chesapeake, to York soon after the War of 1812. They were a part of an exodus from the Islands which included among others, the Evans and Lintons, who were, then as now, closely allied with the Lawsons by marriage. The story is told that when Elisha Lawson, Jr., son of the original York settler Elisha Lawson, Sr., married Saphire Evans, daughter of Josiah Evans of Lucy Banks, the wedding party embarked in a boat and sailed up to Tangier Island where they were married by that interesting character of Revolutionary War fame, the "Parson of the Islands", Rev. Joshua Thomas.

VIII. (5) -- p. 49

Mary Elizabeth Holloway, daughter of Robert Holloway and Elizabeth Linton, married Capt. Solomon Cornelius Evans, b. Mar. 30, 1839, d. Apr. 25, 1912, son of Josiah Evans of "Black Walnut" and grandson of Josiah Evans of "Lucy Banks", York County, Virginia. He was a planter and business man. He enlisted in the Confederate Army at Yorktown, June 24, 1861, as a private in the service of the quartermaster at Yorktown. He was a member of the crew of the Merrimac though not on her at the time of her famous battle. The remainder of his war service was on privateers and blockade runners. On one of these, the sloop Potter, he was captured and spent a long term in the Federal Prison in Baltimore from which he was finally exchanged on parole. His business firm was S. C. Evans and Son of Hampton, Virginia, Wholesale Merchants.

Besides his business interest, Mr. Evans took a prominent part in the religious, civic and political life of York Co. He was the leader of the small oyster planters of York and surrounding counties in many of their fights against private ownership of natural bottom. Upon several occasions he was threatened with arrest for his activities. Letters in the possession of the writer indicate that one of the hardest fights in this losing struggle was in 1897. One letter was a direct threat of legal action if he persisted in his course. His cause, and that of his compatriots, might well be a lost cause still worthy of valiant endeavor on the part of some of the younger influential citizens of the County. Issue:

IX. (1) Prof. William Elijah Evans, b. Mar. 4, 1864, d. Mar. 6, 1900, son of Solomon C. Evans and Mary Elizabeth Holloway, was one of the most gifted sons York County ever produced. Born while conflict still raged between the North and South, he was destined to be one of that generation who, schooled by parents in the lore and tradition of the ante-bellum days, never made the adjustment that required a gentleman to the manner born to put his hand to the plow. While scions of other York families were gradually reconciling themselves to the tasks slaves had once performed for them, he set out in pursuit of what the time of his birth denied him, an education and an adventure. Where he went, what he did, he never fully disclosed. When he returned some years later, he had acquired a remarkable education. The compiler, to whom of all his ancestry this one has always proved most fascinating, has been amazed time and again to learn some hitherto unknown accomplishment of this man who died when barely thirty-six years old. Piecing bits of information together, it seems that his decision to leave home was none too well received by his father. Under the shadow of parental disfavor he went to Philadelphia where he obtained employment. First he studied business, but turned later to a classical education. A retired minister told the compiler a few months ago that "Mr. Evans could read Greek better than any man I have ever known. He kept a Greek New Testament on his schooldesk". This minister was himself a teacher in the county at the time. The Late Rev. Edward H. Hopkins, often referred to his splendid knowledge of Latin. The unusual spectacle of a rural community in which large numbers of people still sing by note and whose choirs have long enjoyed wide reputation remains a testimony to his musical ability and his genius as a music teacher though nearly half-a-century has passed since his death.

He returned home, still in parental disfavor, especially so since the intervening year had not made him as temperate as he was literate, and became a school-teacher. As a school-teacher he was a worthy successor of those earlier teachers who had made of York County perhaps the most literate county in Colonial America. (See interesting article, IW(1)48ff). He was a stern disciplinarian but is kindly remembered by all those whose good fortune it was to sit in his classes.

He was elected High Sheriff of York County in 1891. By this time the rapid pace and unfortunate habits of his brilliant life had made him physically and nervously a sick man. In 1893 he was relieved of his duties. For the short portion of his life which remained he continued partnership with his father in S. C. Evans and Son, wholesale merchants. Exhausted from the very intensity of the life he lived, combining as it did the classics, music, teaching, business and politics, he died March 6, 1900

He married Catherine Julianie Bradshaw, a frail and delicate woman, whose portrait shows her to have been quite beautiful. She died in 1894. Issue:

- IX. (3) Walter Evans, b. Jan. 3, 1870; d. unmarried, 1938. He was an oyster planter. Never a church member, he was for more than forty years an officer in Trinity Methodist Church School, Messick, Va. He was a member of the Red Men, in which he served as a local leader, and also held state and national offices. He was President of the Poquoson Railway, Supply and Shipping Co., of Jeffs, Va., incorporated in 1913.
- (4) Josiah Evans, b. Aug. 18, 1872, d. Feb. 15, 1883
- (5) Ziporah Evans, b. Mar. 31, 1876; married the Reverend Edward Henry Hopkins, Sr., b. May 6, 1877, d. Apr. 21, 1935, son of George Edwood Hopkins and Mary Ellinor Watkins, descended on his father's side from Col. Christopher Calthorpe, a member of the House of Burgesses, and Collaterally from Governor Nathaniel Bacon and Nathaniel Bacon, "the Rebel". Maternally he was descended from Thomas Watkins, progenitor of the distinguished Watkins Family of Charles Parish, and from Solomon Linton. He was educated at Randolph-Macon Academy, Bedford, Va., and at Vanderbilt University. He was for more than twenty-five years a member of the Virginia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Before entering the ministry, Mr. Hopkins followed the water, becoming Captain of a schooner at the age of nineteen. He was one of the group who organized the Poquoson National Bank, Odd, Va., and was instrumental in the reclamation and enlargement of Western Cemetery, Messick, Va., where he is buried.

As a minister he was particularly active in the cause of temperance. He served as a member of the Board of Christian Literature and on other Boards and Committees of his Church. Consecutively, he served the following pastorates: Rockfish, South Amherst, Middlesex, Kinsale, South Princess Anne, Wachapreague, Cambridge, Md., Guilford, Cumberland, West Hanover, and Brightwood.

He was a Heptasoph, Red Man and Jr. OUAM.

His school-day friend, so soon to follow him, Rev. James Love Finch, quite appropriately spoke of him in his funeral oration as "a rugged mountain peak". How fitting a description of his clear perception, indomitable will, and upright character!

Mrs. Hopkins has been active in church circles. She was a constant traveling companion of her husband and is affectionately remembered by former parishioners for her many visits in their homes. Res: Messick, Va. Issue:

- X. (1) Garland Evans Hopkins, b. Dec. 28, 1913, received his A. B. degree from Randolph-Macon College; studied law at T. C. Williams School of Law, University of Richmond. He is a member of the Virginia Conference of the Methodist Church and has served as Minister-Director of Trinity Institutional Church, 1934-7, and as pastor of LeKies Memorial Methodist Church, Norfolk, Va. He is President of the Commission on Social Welfare of the Virginia Conference; a member of the Central Committee, National Church Conference of Social Work;

He has been active in Child Welfare Work, founding Camp Mastin for Boys and Girls in New Kent Co., which he directed 1934-7. He is a frequent contributor to magazines on the subject of church social relations.

Mr. Hopkins has been very interested in the preservation of Virginia History. He served as secretary of the William Byrd Branch, Richmond, Va., APVA, and convened the Committee which undertook the preservation of Adam Craig House. He is a member of Pickett-Buchanan Chapter, Sons of Confederate Veterans, of which he is Chaplain. He is Assistant Chaplain-in-Chief of the National organization, S.C.V., and a member of the American Order of Pioneers. He is Author of Cumberland County Tax Petitions; History of Cumberland County, Va., The Life of Edward Carrington and various contributed articles in Historical Magazines. He is listed in Who's Who in Genealogy. Fraternities: Sigma Nu Phi (legal), Tau Kappa Alpha and Beta Pi Theta.

He married Margaret Catherine Lail of Danville, Va., Dec. 23, 1935. She is a graduate of Ferrum Junior College, Blackstone College and Scarritt College (A.B.). Before marriage she was first an Instructor at Ferrum Junior College, and then served as Recreational Director for the Methodist Orphanage, Richmond, Va.

Mrs. Hopkins is the daughter of David Arthur Lail and Hattie Lee Hollie. Paternally her ancestry is German-Lutheran of Western North Carolina. Among her maternal ancestry is Joseph Motley of Amelia County and, collaterally, Governor John Motley Morehead of North Carolina. Kindred families in Southern Virginia include Giles, Butcher, and Hutcherson.

 Though this spelling of "Carroll" is nearly always used now in the Freeman Family, it is not historically correct. The proper spelling is "Callowhill" (pronounced "Carroll"), the name of an ancient English family from whom descended the Presson (properly pronounced "Pressey") and Freeman families in York County. John Freeman of "the Cedars" was a son of Elizabeth Presson, whose brother Callowhill Presson was a prominent figure in York County around the turn of the Eighteenth Century.

(7) Floyd Holloway, b. May 18, 1894; married, June 1, 1921, Jennie Holloway, b. Mar. 9, 1896, dau. of Robert T. Holloway and Joyce Forrest (q.v.). For more than a score of years, he has been County and Circuit Court Clerk for York County.

Mr. Holloway was educated at Smithdeal Business College, Richmond College, and at the T. C. Williams School of Law, University of Richmond. He was first employed with the Virginia Electric and Power Co. and afterward by the Atlantic Coast Line Railway and the Chesapeake Telephone Co. His first venture into politics was in 1915, when he was defeated as a candidate for the office of Commissioner of Revenue. In 1919 he was a successful candidate for the office of Clerk, and has been re-elected at each successive election. He is also Commissioner of Accounts for York County. He served as a delegate to State Conventions of the Democratic Party in 1928 and 1936.

On December 20, 1932, he was admitted to the bar of Virginia, and qualified to practice before the State Supreme Court on Jan. 4, 1933. He has extensive practice in adjacent counties, being prohibited by law from practicing in York, where he is Clerk. Among the most notable cases in which he has participated was that of Benjamin Taylor, indicted for threat to kidnap. This was one of the first cases of its kind in Virginia, and in it Mr. Holloway proved his ability as a lawyer by the able manner in which he directed the interests of his client.

Mr. Holloway is a Steward in the Yorktown Methodist Church. He is a Mason; Red Man, Jr. OUAM. He was recently elected Worthy Patron of York Chapter 110, Order of the Eastern Star. He is a member of the Virginia Peninsula Association of Commerce and of the APVA. He has served as President of the Yorktown Chamber of Commerce and of the York County Red Cross. He has rendered conspicuous service to the Colonial National Park and to the Yorktown Sesqui-Centennial. During the World War he was first to register with the Poquoson Magisterial District for service.

Biographical sketches of Mr. Holloway are to be found in History of Virginia Democracy by Robert C. Glass and Carter Glass, Jr., and in History of Virginia, Vol. IV, by Bruce. The Glasses say of him "In his present position as Clerk of the County he is making an excellent record and his interest in politics is that of a progressive and broad-minded citizen. ...he has many social qualities which make for popularity among those with whom he is associated."

Mrs. Holloway is very active in church and social circles. She is also well known among sportsfolk, especially for her interest in golf. She is a frequent competitor in tournaments throughout the state. Her hobby is York County antiques, of which she has an unusual and valuable collection. Issue:

Descendants of George Holloway, Jr.

II. (2) -- p. 9 (English Ancestry VIII - 2)

George Holloway, Jr., b. ca. 1638, is much more difficult to trace through his descendants than his brother. Most of his descendants have moved out of the county, many of them, no doubt, pioneering westward as the nation developed. The compiler hopes that this monograph will serve as a genealogical source-book for the descendants of George Holloway, Jr. What is known is here recorded, and some unverified possibilities are suggested. But even this is but a small indication of the many ancestors of this first family.

We do not know who George Holloway, Jr. married, but he had at least one son, seemingly two. Issue:

III. (1) George Holloway, III, b. ca. 1660, d. June 13, 1714

(2) William Holloway, b. ca. 1662, who may possibly be the progenitor of the Holloways of King and Queen County. He had 100 acres listed on the Quit Rent Roll of 1704. This might also be William Holloway who left Virginia to enter the Queen's Army, Mar. 8, 1709. (See 19V24).

III. (1) -- above

George Holloway, III, married, first, Hannah (sometimes Anna or Annah), who died Oct. 20, 1701. Issue:

IV. (1) James, b. Jan. 16, 1685, d. Nov. 27, 1705

(2) Charles Holloway, b. Apr. 15, 1688

(3) David Holloway, b. Aug. 18, 1690, d. July 13, 1698

(4) George Holloway, IV, b. Aug. 18, 1690

(5) Mary Holloway, b. June 4, 1693, d. prior to Dec. 13, 1695

(6) Mary Holloway, b. Dec. 13, 1695

George Holloway, III, married, secondly, Elizabeth. Issue:

(7) Elizabeth Holloway, b. Sept. 8, 1704

(8) Dianah Holloway, b. Dec. 4, 1711

(9) Sarah Holloway, b. Dec. 2, 1713, d. Apr. 13, 1714

The latter two may have been the children of George Holloway, IV, by a wife also named Elizabeth.

Here ends the verified descent from George Holloway, Sr.
There follow certain unverified conclusions which have been made after a careful study of the records.

IV. (1) - above

James Holloway, though not yet twenty-one when he died; evidently had issue:

V. (1) James Holloway, Jr., b. ca. 1705. This seems a reasonable conclusion when the Parish Records are carefully studied. Each other known James Holloway can be eliminated as the father of James Holloway, Jr., here listed, except the above. Further check may disprove this theory, but at present it seems most tenable. It is probably his inventory which is listed in York W. B. 21, p. 304, 1767. Issue:

VI. (1) James Holloway, III, referred to in Parish Records as "James Holloway, Jr.", b. ca. 1730

VI. (2) John Holloway, b. ca. 1733. He enlisted in the 7th Company, Virginia Regiment in the French and Indian War. He is described in the records as twenty-two years of age and a planter of York County.

VI. (1)

James Holloway, III, enlisted in the 7th Company, Virginia Regiment in the French and Indian War. He is described as twenty-five years of age and as a planter of York County. He married, first, Hannah (Hinde?). Issue:

VII. (1) Hinde Holloway, b. May 9, 1754

James Holloway, III, married, secondly, Elizabeth Parsons. Issue:

(2) Lucy Holloway, b. July 18, 1762

(3) Armiger Parsons Holloway, b. Nov. 19, 1772

RELATED, BUT UNCONNECTED, FAMILIES OF HOLLOWAY

These families are included in this study because it is highly probable that they are kindred families of the one which has been presented herein. Perhaps descendants will be able to connect their families from information obtained from this monograph

(a) Descendants of Harriett Holloway Ryder

I.

Harriett Holloway is given as the maiden name of the wife of John Ryder in York Marriage Records. It is possible that she was a daughter of Rev. John Hinde Holloway. Among issue:

II. (1) Harriett Ryder m., first, _____ Amory; and m., secondly, George Watkins, son of William Watkins and Eliza Linton.

Issue:

(5) Maggie Louisa Holloway, b. 1894

(f) Descendants of Jesse R. Holloway

This letter is printed in full because of its potential value to Holloways descended from this line. Is this one of the Jesse Holloways mentioned herein?

"In reply to your letter of the 7th instant requesting some information regarding one Jesse R. Holloway, will say that Jesse Holloway was my grand-father and lived in Bunker Hill, W. Va. He with his family moved from there in 1835 and settled in Georgetown, Ver. Co., Ill., where he died in 1854.

Respectfully,
Geo. W. Holloway
(of Danville, Ill.)

HOLLOWAY MISCELLANY

1. William Holloway of Brunswick County appeared in Court and made oath concerning his service in the Revolution, Apr. 4, 1782. It was probably the same William Holloway whose will is probated in Brunswick W. B. # 2, p. 429.
2. Reuben Holloway of Virginia was a soldier in the American Revolution (Virkus, II, p. 95)
3. Abraham Holloway of Virginia m. Rachel _____, (Virkus, II, p. 304).
4. John Holloway of Amelia County m. Sarah Tucker, June 1804.
5. John Holloway was a Justice in Northampton County in 1652.
6. Prince George Quit Rent Rolls for 1704 list Edward Holloway and Edward Holloway, Sr.
7. Virginia Holloways listed in the Roster of Virginia as soldiers in the American Revolution include:
 - Archibald Holloway, 2 Va. State Regiment
 - George Holloway, 6 Continental Line. 10 C. L.
 - Charles Holloway, I. C. L., 10 C. L.
 - James Holloway, see Henrico Pensions
 - John Holloway, received Bounty Warrant
 - Lieut. James Holloway -- 12 C. L.
 - John Holloway -- 4 C. L.
 - Sgt. Thomas Holloway -- Wagon Master
 - Thomas Holloway -- Sgt., Infantry
 - Thomas Holloway -- of Sussex County
 - Ensign William Holloway, Amelia County
 - Sgt. William Holloway -- 5 C. L.
8. There is a record, p. 409, Hardesty's Historical and Geographical Encyclopedia, Special Virginia Edition, of Richard A. Holloway, presumably of Surry County, who was a member of 13th Virginia Cavalry, C.S.A. He was captured at Gettysburg and held in prison at Point Lookout.
9. Tyler's Magazine, Vol. VI, p. 110, states that Jesse Holloway was certified as giving aid to the American Revolution before a court for Brunswick County, recorded in Brunswick O. B. Apr. 23, 1782.

INFORMATION

Undoubtedly there will be many readers of this Monograph who will desire to go more fully into the history of their particular branch of the family, and its related families, than has been possible in this brief study. For their help and convenience the compiler is glad to offer the following information and services:

(a) Research on Related Lines

The Compiler plans to issue Monographs similar to this about other York County, Virginia, families. Among the studies contemplated are: (1) Cavalier Calvacade--The Calthorpe Family; (2) Renowned Rebels--The Bacon Family; (3) Poquoson Planters--The Freeman Family; (4) Watkins of Charles Parish--The Watkins Family; (5) The Linton Link--The Linton Family; and others on the Hopkins, Evans, Crockett, Messick, Howard, Page, Lawson and other York County families.

(b) Biographical and Historical

Besides the series of genealogical monographs, the compiler is gathering information for fuller accounts of some historically significant personages, places and events of York County history. At present work on the following is nearing completion:

(1) John Holloway, Gentleman--a biography of the Colonial Statesman.

(2) Colonel Christopher Calthorpe--a biography of the scape-goat son of a noble English family who found iron and honor in a new and pioneer land.

(3) A Church History of York County, Virginia--describing the parishes and churches of the county from earliest times to the present.

(c) Coat-of-Arms

The compiler will be glad to furnish photostatic copies of any of the arms described in section 2. These photostats may be framed and displayed, either decorated or plain, or may be used as guides for paintings of the arms by professional heraldist. The price of each photostatic copy is $2.00.

A high-grade, hand-decorated, reproduction of the arms, suitable for framing, can be furnished by the compiler for $10.00.

(d) Family Trees

The compiler will arrange, diagram and have blue-printed or photostated, the direct lineage of any person whose family is considered in this monograph. Suitable for framing. Each lineage, $5.00.

(e) Genealogical Research

The compiler is not a professional genealogist and has only a limited amount of time to give to historical study. However, he will be happy to make his files available to descendants of York families who are desirous of completing direct or collateral lines. The only cost will be for time and stenographic service involved in arranging and copying the records requested.

The compiler will be glad to make suggestions as to reliable genealogists or heraldry artist to any who are desirous of such information. Gratis.
